The president of Puertos del Estado, Francisco Toledo, expressed his satisfaction with the progress of traffic: “We have regained a pulse, and from now on we will see the strength of our ports more clearly.” The cumulative figure for the first four months of the year 2021 stood at 174,753,220 tonnes, which is almost equal to the 2020 records. # Press Release

Liquid bulk, the second largest group, with 13.4 million tonnes in April (-11.2%), continues to stagnate due to mobility constraints, which has reduced the consumption of petroleum products and their derivatives, although some products such as biofuels grew by 11.4% in the first four months of the year.

Solid bulk, with 7.3 million tonnes in the month of April, have made a strong surge (+21.6%), offsetting a large part of the losses suffered in previous months due to the decline in coal and fossil fuel traffic, thanks above all to products such as cement and clinker which, with 4.9 million tonnes in the four-month period, have grown by 20%.

Roll-on/roll-off traffic grew the most in April, by 62.7%, and now totals more than 20.6 million tonnes in the first four months of the year, with an annual increase of 9.6%.

Container traffic, which grew by +16% in April, totalled 5.8 million TEUs in the first four months of the year, an increase of +6.9% year-to-date.

The number of vessels has also experienced a remarkable increase in April, +63%, with more than 10,000 vessels operating in the ports.

Finally, passenger traffic, with more than 710,000 people embarking on regular and cruise lines during April, is beginning to show a gradual recovery, although the figures are far from those reached in the first four months of 2019, when more than 3 million passengers were counted on the same dates.
